A boxful of ideas

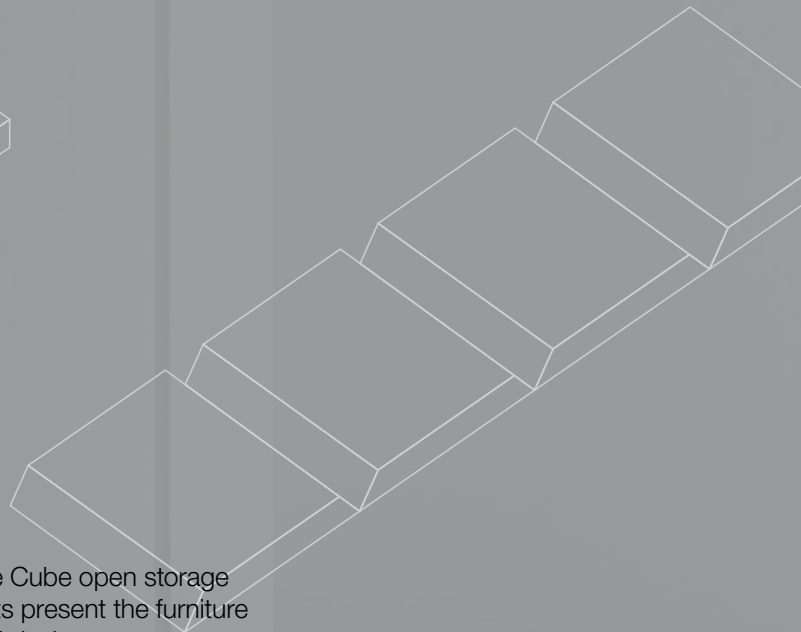

Made in Italy

CONTAINERS FULL OF INNOVATION, PRODUCED WITH AN INGENUOUS TECHNIQUE.

Lanta - a leading manufacturer of components for the furniture industry - has poured its experience and research into creating Cube, an innovative line of open storage units made with the mitre folding technique: an ingenious procedure that allows an unprecedented clean-lined outer surface to be achieved, with no breaks, no joints and no overlapping.

The Cube open storage units present the furniture and design sector with attractive new opportunities, including the option of purchasing large quantities for industrial requirements, or buying the product ready packed and complete with hardware for direct sale.

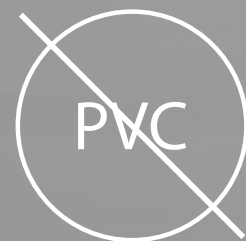

A COMPETITIVE EDGE FOR THE FURNITURE AND DESIGN SECTOR.

With Cube, players in the furniture and design field can offer open storage units that are versatile and affordable and coordinate perfectly with other furniture. Customers can complete their interior following a consistent design scheme based on the characteristics of the kitchen door, gradually introducing Cube units into every room of the home.

The production procedure is immediate. The code of the doors on the setting to be completed can be used to trace the code of the panel used to produce them and this can then be employed to produce the Cube units, which will have the exact same characteristics, colour and finishes as the units they are being added to.

Using Lanta's Laminlac panel faced with a PVC-free lacquered-effect PET foil ensures that the resulting Cube units are aesthetically advanced, hard-wearing, safe and environmentally compatible.
